Leduc Hotel Disaster Takes 10 Lives, Injures 16 Others

FIRST SHEET-SHIROUDED BODY is carried from fire-twisted ruins of ill-fated Leduc Hotel three hours after massive explosion and fire struck with terrible suddenness at 11:57 a.m. Saturday. Mounted policemen and volunteer workers carry corpse from fire pit and past a rough cross in foreground blown into ground by force of blast. Saturday and Sunday, nine more victims of Leduc's worst disaster were carried to waiting ambulances to be taken to nearby funeral parlor for identification. Forty-two persons were in building when explosion struck caving in walls and floors like a deck of cards. Ten died and 16 were injured.

EYE-WITNESS STORIES

'I Have Only God to Thank I'm Alive,' Declares Survivor

(Graphic accounts of the scenes of horror at the Leduc Hotel explosion were given to the Edmonton Bulletin by survivors and eye-witnesses of the disaster. Their stories follow.)

By Adolph May

I have only God to thank I'm alive to tell this. I was in charge of the bar of the Leduc Hotel and was doing some cleaning up just before we were ready to open. I asked one of my waiters, Emil Abel, to tap a keg of beer. The other one, Steve Fennick, was out in the other parlor arranging some chairs.

That was about 11:55. A few moments later the first explosion ripped through the building.

I was thrown about six feet straight up, and must have been stunned for a moment or two.

When my head cleared I realized I had gone up but hadn't come down. I tried to move, but I couldn't. I was trapped between two timbers—across my shoulders and the other over my stomach.

A pile of rubble had mushroomed up under me, carrying me with it. I was trapped on the top of the pile about six feet off where the floor had been.

The second blast went off a few moments later, and it was then that flames leaped through the wreckage.

It looked like the end of the trail for me.

By LOUIS TAUBER

I was driving across the tracks about 40 yards from the hotel when suddenly there was a terrific rumble and the whole hotel started to fly apart.

It was terrible. The walls all blew out, bricks and debris were flying everywhere, and I think the roof went up in the air, too. In an instant I was safe.

Two Albertans Killed After Highway Crashes

Two Alberta residents were killed in highway traffic accidents during the week-end.

Bert Ficas, 55-year-old farmer of Grinford, 55 miles west of Edmonton, was instantly killed Saturday morning when he was struck by a heavy truck on the highway outside his home.

Second victim was George H. Stewart, who was killed on Highway 19 at 6:20 p.m. Sunday night near MacLeod Beach, 50 miles southwest of Edmonton.

The Westlakea owner stated that an inquest will be held into Stewart's death.

British Loan To Yugoslavia Said Definite

LONDON, Nov. 12.—(Reuters)—

Britain is to lend Yugoslavia £5,000,000 to pay for an effort to avert a famine threatening the country, it is reliably learned.

A usually well-informed source said today that Britain's ambassador to Yugoslavia will advise Marshal Tito of the loan tomorrow.

Yugoslavia has been facing starvation as a result of a country-wide drought which rained this year's crops.

Two North Fliers Safe

Uninjured in an emergency landing of their plane 57 miles north of Lac La Biche last Friday.

The Dakota flew back to the town of Hawnaw and his passenger, Albert Mercier, returned with the plane to Lac La Biche Saturday afternoon.

The two men, both of Lac La Biche, were located from the air at about 3:15 p.m. Friday by an RCMP Dakota rescue plane.

They had been reported overdue for 24 hours earlier on flight from Lac La Biche to an air strip 51 miles northeast of the town.

Hawnaw and Mercier wrote a message in the snow: "We're proper and safe."

The Dakota flew back to Lac La Biche and dropped a propeller and ski to the stranded men by parachute.

Eskimos Shuffle Lineup For Crucial 3rd Game

By DICK BEDDOES

Bulletin Sports Writer

WINNIPEG, Nov. 13.—It came up windy and sunny here today as Winnipeg Blue Bombers and Edmonton Eskimos prepared for battle in the third and deciding game of the Western Football Conference final.

The series was snarled and snarled up at a game each, with the Bombers favored at 4-1 to wrap up the western championship in six games this season.

Winnipeg has emerged victorious four times over the Edmontonians.

Temperature at game time hovered near 30 above, representing a long-range rise over Saturday when it was downright chilly. The wind is bringing, whipping out of the Southwest at 25-miles-per-hour and higher, with a warm current to this inland city.

At the speed the breeze was expected to be hazardous to kickers but considered more favorable to Bombers' long-punting Indian Jack Jacobs who didn't beat extensively in Winnipeg week 20-13 Saturday.

U.S. Marines Push Ahead

SEOUL, Korea, Nov. 12.—(AP)—

U.S. Marines pushed eastward 5 1/2 miles through undefended, icy hills toward the great Changjin reservoir today.

The advancing marines advanced in the center of the front, there was dogged fighting near both coasts. Behind the battalions, United Nations forces drew a solid defense line across the narrow waist of Korea. The line was completed by the junction of the 3rd Division, built up to battle strength by the addition of South Koreans and Puerto Ricans, and the south Korean 8th division.

The advancing marines bundled like Eskimos, waded through a caskwater gorge in sub-zero weather or without tank support. Tank tracks churned the mountain road into a soggy mass that bogged down the heavy equipment.

Marine planes flew close cover. Even that was unneeded, as the troops ran into only a scattered handful of Chinese Communists.

The Reds were eliminated without marine loss.

To the west, Chinese Communists appeared to be digging in or fighting delayed actions; but on the east coast they seemed to the attack.

Shot Kills Topland Man

BARIBHEAD, Nov. 12.—Percy

Jackson, 48, of Topland, 30 miles northwest of Baribhead was instantly killed yesterday while cutting cattle in the bush country.

A Baribhead youth was said to have mistaken Jackson for a deer. Faint shot entered the chest and passed through the body.

Preliminary hearing—during which the body was identified by Jackson's brother, a ranger at Whitecourt—was ordered by Dr. W. H. Kerr. Inquest was adjourned to Nov. 22.

Deceased is survived by his wife and six children.

10 Killed As Hotel Explodes

Gas Flowing From Open Pipe Blamed

Gas flowing in from an open pipe into the basement of the Leduc hotel was blamed today by police, survivors and rescue workers for the explosion and fire which snuffed out the lives of ten persons Saturday, sent sixteen to hospital and shattered the two-story brick building into rubble.

It was the worst disaster of its kind in Western Canada's history.

Angry citizens of Leduc demanded swift action to establish responsibility for the disaster. The pipe had been laid in preparation for completion of gas heating system in the building and was connected to the main line which was bringing natural gas for fuel to the town for the first time.

As the grim search for further bodies ended officially and stunned townsfolk picked up the threads of activity in the booming oil town 21 miles south of this city, RCMP, company and private investigators were fitting the disaster pattern together.

To Build Up Pressure

The reports said the fatal gas was turned into the main line at the time was being built up to start using the fuel as soon as their installations were completed.

A. L. Laberge, assistant fire superintendent for the Imperial Oil Company at Devon, said the Leduc Utilities Limited, a subsidiary of Alberta Consolidated Utilities Limited, which was to supply the town with natural gas, "asked us to turn on the gas Thursday so they could pressure up the lines and determine whether there were any leaks or not."

(Northwestern Utilities Limited has no connection with the Leduc gas system, company officials said.)

Mr. Laberge said he believed the gas would only go to the outskirts of Leduc where a valve would prevent it from entering town lines.

Flames on the piping into the hotel had not been completed and a "valve was still lying unattached to the pipe," John McGee, part owner of the building, said.

Several residents in the town said gas pipes leading to their homes and residences had been left uncapped.

Louis Tauber, an eye witness to the blast and one of the first rescuers on the scene, told of examining the gas outlet in the destroyed hotel.

"There was no cap on it," he said. "I looked very closely at it. There was a hole in the end of the pipe and I saw they were in perfect condition. If the cap had been blown off the threads would have been damaged."

Among those who said their gas outlets were not capped was garage operator Clarence Evans, who told of hearing a "hissing sound" in the line in his garage and at window.

He immediately opened all windows, threw water on his stove and raced from the building. A few minutes later he heard the blast which shattered the hotel.

Gracey operator Ken Smith said he also heard the hissing sound in the line and rushed to plug the outlet.

Officials of Leduc Utilities and the contracting firm declined to comment pending "full investigation." The utility company is (Continued on Page 3)

Alberta Farmer Wins World's Title for Rye

TORONTO, Nov. 12.—(CP)—Three world championships were awarded today at the Royal Winter Fair. Only one went to a last year's winner.

Chris McKee of Dickson, Alta., was named world's rye champion after five years of dominance.

Sask., won the world's barley championship, E. W. Douhet of Hanna City, Ill., regained the corn title he won last year.

World championship titles still to be awarded are those for wheat, oats and potatoes.

The three awards were made before the eight-day agricultural show officially opens tomorrow.

Mr. McKee, as far as officials knew immediately, is a newcomer to championship honors, but Mr. Kessel is a 1949 titleholder in a different seed class.

Mr. Kessel, a bachelor-farmer, last year won the rye title and later also won the same title to crop 7½ king honors at the International fair and grain show at Chicago.

His rye wasn't out of the running this year. It drew the second-place reserve championship. He also won a third award—although not in a world championship class—with a grand champion rye for six.

Egg Prices Rise 5 Cents

Retail price of eggs went up another five cents a dozen in Edmonton this morning.

The increase, which makes Grade A large 30 cents a dozen, applies equally to medium and pullet grades.

It follows an increase of five cents paid to the producer and passed along to the consumer by wholesalers and retailers.

"All the new production eggs had been used, but with this supply running out the price has risen a total of 12 cents in the last three weeks."

Wholesalers say they don't expect any further increases. They expect the price to go back to normal after dropping about 20 cents a dozen when the British market was cut off last Christmas.

Last spring, breeders brought "lower class" than usual and the effect of this is now being felt.

10 Persons Killed As Hotel Blows Up

The full investigation was being carried out today by RCMP Superintendent N. Courtois, Alberta Chief of the RCMP, Criminal Investigations Branch, said this morning.
Provided Fire Commissioner Austin Bridges, conducting the investigation, was expected to issue a statement late today.
F. J. Simington, manager of Alberta Consolidated Utilities, said today gas service to Leduc was due to start Saturday after a number of postponements.
Meanwhile, aroused citizens of Leduc pressed today for a speedy probe into the cause and identification of those responsible for the disaster which took such a heavy toll of human life and wrecked

Blast Rips Hotel Apart

Legionnaires who had paraded in the hotel basement to get a jar still were their bright wedge here.
A few hours later the caps were blackened with smoke as the soldiers dug frantically through the ruins of the building.
At the hotel bar, a white-clothed bartender tipped a keg of beer, knowing that the crowd, now passing the time in the hotel, would be upon him.
Late Saturday night a rag of the white canvas cap was used as the only identification of his body.
Upstairs in one of the hotel's 19 rooms, an oil worker, back from the fields after the "graveyard" shift, stirred in his bed and decided to get up.
Obviously, little Orylia Megley ran downstairs to the fruit locker

Sante Fe Divided Over Kidnapping By Doctor

SANTA FE, N.M., Nov. 13.—(AP)—Santa Fe was divided today in shocked reaction to the ransom kidnapping of little Linda Stamm.
Doctors and friends rallied to the aid of Dr. Nancy Campbell, 43, prominent woman physician charged with the kidnapping for $20,000 ransom.
However, other parents joined nine-year-old Linda's mother, Mrs. Allen Stamm, in hoping the accused woman, never in the past a penny-losing case, would be freed again if convicted. Conviction carries a penalty ranging from five years imprisonment to death by electrocution.
The formal charge of kidnapping for ransom was filed last night and bail set at $25,000.
Linda was lured from her home Friday. She spent that night at the doctor's office, where she was kept in a room with no door to the outside. She was found in a room with no door to the outside. She was found in a room with no door to the outside.

Many Oddities Seen At Leduc Blast Scene

A pillar of smoke rising high, drifting south before a light wind, ambulances streaking towards the city with their sirens screaming; a mounted policeman directing traffic; the turning motorist that disaster had struck the quiet town of Leduc.
But inside the town, the scene changed. Four police cars were parked on the main street. Hoses from several hydrants snaked their way towards the leveled ruins. Hundreds of townspeople in little groups discussing the disaster.
Clark Allan, electrician; Constable Larry Martin, RCMP. Six business establishments across the street from the hotel suffered heavy damage. Bricks, glass shards and wood splinters were driven through heavy plate glass windows and into the ruins of the hotel. No one was hurt in the disaster.
These were Munn's Drug Store, Marshall's Store, Loecker's, Schirag's, Schroeder's, Loecker's, Imperial Bakery and Bollen's Store. The two first aid stations were located in Munn's Drug Store and a grocery store in the next block.
The Edmonton Red Cross stated they were standing by with large quantities of blood plasma. The plasma was not needed.
The hotel was a 50 by 150 foot structure. A beverage room, a canteen and the lobby comprised the main floor and 10 rooms and a five-room owner's suite was on the second.
All sixteen rooms were occupied.
Cowman John Megley stated the hotel was insured for $60,000. One portion was built in 1905 and an addition in 1931.
At present only one-fifth of Canada's water power resource are harnessed to manufacture electricity.

Weatherman Blows Hot, Cold, Too

The weatherman continued to blow hot and cold on the prairie today with "balmy" weather ranging from the north.
Chinook conditions which sent temperatures rising in the three provinces over the week-end were expected to provide Winnipeg with top reading of 20 degrees for the final game in the Western Football Conference championship today.
A brisk 25 mph wind from the southwest is due to blow across the prairie field by game time, however.
Local forecast is for cloudy and continuing mild conditions in Edmonton today with the advance of the cold front due to hit the city around midnight when a 20 mph northerly wind may bring some snow.

Oldest HBC Ad Will Bring Valuable Prize

"Household Archives" were being searched over the week-end in Edmonton and vicinity in the search for oldest Hudson's Bay Company advertisement from oldtime files of the Edmonton Bulletin.

The quest through walloping stacks of bygone Bulletins was started off when the HBC announced it would present a pair of the famous HBC blankets—four pointers—to the Bulletin reader who submitted the most ancient company advertisement from a bygone issue of the paper.

The contest is jointly sponsored by the HBC store here and the Bulletin.

Entries must be submitted to the Bulletin by the HBC store here by store closing time Tuesday, Nov. 21.

OLD ONES ENTERED Company officials said today at least a score of oldtime ads—one dating back to 1868—had already been entered in the contest.

Actually the 1868 number is a little too old. The HBC's retail store in Edmonton didn't open for business until 1890 and it's ads from that store the present contest is based on.

People in out-of-the-city points are urged to mail in entries to the contest advertisement column.

After all those four point blankets would look just as good in a country home as in a city dwelling, Nov. 7, with the loss of 22 lives.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 13.—It would have been a lost week-end if we hadn't captured Saskatoon. We took the Beasbrough Hotel at 9:30 Friday night by a direct frontal assault. Guerrilla tactics, led by Dal Eiton of the Eskimo football special, placed our forces behind enemy receiving lines in the Beasbrough ballroom and Dave Wood went over for two touchdowns in evening gown territory.

The opposition was helpless against our matchless infiltration tactics. We captured four blondes and two ex-Edmontonians who had been held prisoners by Saskatoon Kinsmen Club since just before the Boer War.

Really Base Basic English

Out at Osborne Stadium Saturday we met with a sharp reverse. Coach Annis Stukus is certain the reverse is only temporary. Speaking rapidly in the Lithuanian tongue, and translated four times by Moe Lieberman, George Day, John Michaels and mayor Don MacKay of Calgary, into basic English that was really base, Stukus said:

"There's nothing wrong with the Eskimos that a win Monday afternoon won't fix up."

Arrangements for the seating of Edmonton fans in the Osborne bandbox were wonderful—wonderful for Winnipeg fans.

The only way we could tell that Edmonton had scored a touchdown was by watching through binoculars for a signal from the lookout posted in Shea's Brewery, two miles due north of the park.

When Edmonton scored the fellow in the brewery crowd's nest ran a black flag up to the masthead. That was a signal for Edmontonians to let loose.

Vic Sinclair, who lives over on the south side, had a "wonderful" seat. He couldn't even see Shea's Brewery.

We had to set up a rear echelon communications system for Vic and Mrs. Al Anderson. A hardy Indian from the Pas district who competes every winter in the dog derby, beat a dim moccasin trail from the press box with latest game scores to the Edmonton section.

Of course, we had all the eastern Canada football before the first quarter result of the grid battle here.

Trip Was a Honey

The trip down on the Eskimo special was a honey. The CNR really put this excursion across. Now I know they call Edmonton the friendly city for sure.

Barney Stanley, who was quite a hockey player a few decades ago, is on the trip. Barney looks young as ever but he can't remember things too well, he's going to lose some money betting on scores of games he played back in 1923. And I'm going to collect.

A fine goodnight to all and especially Fred Purkiss, and Grant Morrison, hardest-working men on the Eskimo special.

Leduc Mobilizes Quickly To Face Up To Disaster

A town geared to progress mobilized for disaster in a few short minutes Saturday afternoon.

Leduc, nerve centre for the vast and rich Leduc oil fields to the north and west, thought and acted as one unit Saturday afternoon.

No man willing to serve was refused. Every effort was directed to aiding victims of the disastrous Leduc Hotel explosion.

Every effort was made to halt the spread of flames which added help to horror following the explosion which panicked the hotel in two short moments.

Disaster struck on the scene in a matter of minutes. For three hours the men stood at their jobs while smoke half blinded them in the below-freezing weather.

WOMEN ASSIST
Women of the town brewed huge quantities of coffee and moved quickly by the fire to give it to their men.

From Edmonton, a pumpman manned by men from Number 2 Station poured the 12 miles of water line in an effort to bring the emergency call through by the RCMP detachment at Leduc.

RCMP officers and men from Leduc, Wetaskiwin and Edmonton kept the huge crowds in check behind a rope barrier. Three city ambulances worked in relays rushing the injured to Edmonton hospitals. Many more were also transported to hospitals by taxis and private cars.

Veterans of both wars were pressed into service to help back the crowds. Legionnaires still wearing their legion hats were seen parading through the town a few minutes before the blast worked by the businessmen of the town, high school students and other workers of the town.

Three Rescues Made Of Child From Fire
MARTINTOWN, Ont., Nov. 13.—(CP)—A child who was trapped in a burning house had to be rescued three times from her blazing home Saturday in this village 12 miles north-east of Toronto.

Irene Jacques said she had to enter the house three times to rescue her child from the flames of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Lalonde while fire was gutting the inside of the frame house.

Advertising Man Dies In Toronto
TORONTO, Nov. 13.—(AP)—William H. Griffin, 72, founder of the Griffin Agency, an advertising and printing firm died Saturday.

He was a sales executive with the Southern Trust for 29 years prior to starting his own business. He was survived by a wife, Mrs. Griffin, and a son, William H. Griffin, Jr., who was widely circulated.

Leduc Hotel Before and After Blast

TRIM, CLEAN LINES of Leduc Hotel, built in 1905 and remodelled in 1931, show ill-fated hotel before it was totally destroyed Saturday noon. Hotel, co-owned by John Megley and John Haydak, was valued at $150,000 and insured for $60,000. It contained 19 rooms, beverage room, coffee shop and lobby. Now, all that remains is rubble as instantaneous blast crumpled it like matchwood.

FIRE-BLACKENED RUINS of Leduc Hotel stand today at end of main street of town, grim testimony to a terrific blast that levelled hotel, caving roof, walls and floors in on top of 10 persons who died in blast. Only tangled jungle of charred timbers, twisted pipes and ruined furniture left basement of hotel. Wary search crews worked all Saturday afternoon and Sunday sifting through rubble for bodies of blast and fire victims.

Highway to Leduc Jammed By Thousands of Curious

Curiosity-seekers by the thousands clogged the 24-mile stretch of highway between here and Leduc Sunday afternoon to view the remains of the Leduc Hotel, destroyed by blast and fire Saturday.

Almost bumper-to-bumper from the city limits to Leduc, thousands of cars, fully loaded, made the trip. Injured were carried to his house until all were told to get up in case there was another explosion.

Inside the town, the confusion was almost indescribable. Their cars took up every such of parking space and they stood silently behind a barrier roping off the ruined hotel.

The work of rehabilitation was hampered by the horde of people. Trucks carrying away rubble had to inch through the crowd.

As the victims were found they were wrapped in white sheets and carried to waiting ambulances for transfer to the town's small undertaker parlor to await identification.

Positive identification was difficult. A ring, a bracelet, the shawl of a water's canvas coat, the color of hair or an unusual dental filling, provided the clues.

Mrs. Toby Miller, a tiny woman, was buried beneath the coffee shop ceiling as it collapsed. Both Mr. and Mrs. Miller, one of the injured, lifted the ceiling with a crowbar in free time.

An open hearing was conducted by Provincial Coroner Mr. M. Cantor at 11 a.m. Sunday in the Leduc branch of Hamilton's Funeral Parlor.

After viewing the 10 bodies, Dr. Cantor adjourned the inquest until a indefinite later date to allow RCMP officers to carry out complete investigations.

Nick Ewanchuk told of hearing a cry for help as he tried to find the trapped person. He said he saw a hand reach out but was cut off by flames before he could reach it.

Town Constable Guy Delquist, whose house is 15 feet from the back corner of the hotel, said he thought an airplane had crashed when the blast went. Many of the

DAUGHTER BORN; FARMER KILLED

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Mrs. George Lee, 17, gained a daughter yesterday but lost her husband. Lee, 28, was injured in an automobile accident Saturday night. He died Sunday morning in hospital while his wife was en route there to have their first child. A girl was born to Mrs. Lee.

Safety Talks Requested

Alberta Safety Council has requested a joint meeting with the Mayor, police officers, Transit system heads and the City Engineer's department to discuss pedestrian safety during winter months.

Safety Director Paul Lawrence pointed out that the next few months carry the most danger for city pedestrians because of icy streets, greater numbers of pedestrians on foot and cloudy wind-whirls.

To prepare for the danger, the Edmonton Safety Council has organized "Pedestrian Protection Week" for Nov. 27 to Dec. 2 and Mayor Sid Simpson will be asked to proclaim the week officially.

UGG Re-elects J. E. Brownlee

CALGARY, Nov. 13.—(CP)—J. E. Brownlee, KC, of Calgary, last week was re-elected president of United Grain Growers Ltd.

R. C. Brown of Winnipeg was re-elected first vice-president and J. Harvey Lane of Fillmore, Sask., second vice-president. Directors are J. J. MacLellan, Purple Springs, Alta.; H. Shannon, Grandforks, Sask.; J. MacLellan, Nanton, Alta.; W. Allen, Hualien, Alta.; and J. Stevens, Marvillville, Alta.

The Leduc Hotel was closed for an hour in observance of Remembrance Day. It was due to open at noon—three minutes after the fatal blast.

Dozens of beer drinkers who would normally have been in the beverage room would have been trapped beneath the falling walls and tilting roof as were those in the adjacent coffee shop.

"It would have been one of the worst disasters in Canadian history if these two circumstances had been coupled together at the time of the explosion," said an RCMP constable. "It would have been complete destruction of the town's business area."

CLOSED FOR HOUR
The second fortunate circumstance was that the beer parlor of

HIS FACE twisted by grief, Norman Miller, old worker at Leduc, listens as RCMP constable tells him his wife, Edith, perished in blast and fire that took nine other lives Saturday. Mrs. Edith Miller was waitress in coffee shop of Leduc Hotel and was believed asleep when explosion occurred. Mrs. Miller's body will be taken to her home in Athabasca for burial.

PERSONAL TRAGEDY marks face of John Megley, co-owner and manager of Leduc Hotel, as he watches weary search crews hunt for body of his 12-year-old daughter, Oryaia, one of 10 persons who died in explosion at Leduc Saturday. Mr. Megley was absent from hotel when blast occurred. His wife and four other daughters managed to make their way to safety through flaming ruin.

SHOPPING GUIDE

California Imports Filling Shops Again

By Bea Thrifty

Thrifty family dined regally on broccoli with hollandaise sauce at Sunday dinner time yesterday . . . and I must say it was a treat.

Broccoli is making its deep green way from southern California to grace our tables at 25c per pound.

Along with the tasty vegetable came persimmons and pomegranates . . . with a 10c price tag nestling close to the persimmons.

Edmonton shopkeepers say the luxury exotic fruits sell only to the curious . . . the rest of us are faithful followers of oranges, lemons, Texas-pink grapefruit and apples for our Vitamin C.

Apples are plentiful this year and 'tis a fine thing to know. Our summer-season fruit supply left much to be desired.

Yuletide prophets say plenty of fruit in vegetables will be available for the holiday gracing board this year. They tactfully neglected to mention anything as Mundane as prices . . . which implies some mundane prices will be traditionally high.

High prices are becoming traditional aren't they? Turkeys, hams and other perennial Christmas favorites will be available . . . at budget-breaking prices. But rumor hath been whispered hither and you about slightly lower prices than last year's heart-rendering range.

Fine 'n' fancy man who's an authority in the world of hams 'n' turkeys promised more definite forecast by middle of this November week.

With health and wealth in mind, a bright-idea-ed reader called to tell me of a crafty use of the copper wire "chore-boy" kitchen cleaner.

She informed me that she scrubs vegetables with the waxy cleaner . . . and this eliminates the job of peeling the super spuds, carrots, turnips, parsnips or whatever the menu promises.

And of course . . . the high food valued par of the vegetable just 'neath the skin is not peeled away.

'Nother thought in the same vein reminds us homemaker gals to use vegetable cooking water for soups, gravies, stews. Frequently we cook most of the vitamin value from the vegetable right smack into the cooking water.

By saving it and using the nutrition-rich juices in other ways . . . we're helping ourselves to health.

Right today . . . right now . . . I'm amping alpine from my African Violet plants, my ivy and my faithful phloxes.

And just guess what I'm going to do with them! I'm going to wheedle them and tease them into sprouting before the Merry Yuletide. I'm going to put the sprouts in gay little pots, made holiday-brigit with fancy ribbon, and present them with best wishes to a half-a-dozen happy homemakers I know.

If you feel the same way inclined . . . but have no starter plants available . . . buy a couple of three sweet potatoes. Cut them into pieces and dunk in water . . . then just wait and watch them sprout into pretty green-leaved ivy-type plants.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Spineless Mother Lets Child Walk Over Her

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

Because it is poor judgment to allow a small child to cry himself into hysteria to prove to him that YOU, his mother, are the big boss; likewise it is idiotic to allow a child to walk all over you, just because you fear to allow him to cry at all.

One of those commonplace situations is the child who never wants to go to bed. He has decided—no doubt from his experience—that he can conquer the parents into allowing him to stay up until they go to bed. Maybe they have made the mistake of taking him to bed every time they go for recreation and then discover that on the night when he might go to sleep early, he is in no mood for it.

Our littlest son, 38, "Sleeping Habits" may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

DO NOT LET THAT URGE for a candy bar get the best of you if you're on a reducing diet—better get the same calories in food you need.

WHY GROW OLD

Ignore Candy Craving While on Reducing Diet

By Josephine Lowman

(The Friday Question Box)

Q. "On our diet we are allowed to have 1,200 calories a day. My girl friend and I are on a diet."

Sunday or Saturday, could we leave something off and have a candy bar or a sundae? How many calories in a candy bar?

A. The average candy bar has close to 400 calories. A diet of 1,200 calories a day for a few days is extremely low. I hope your diet has been carefully and scientifically planned.

On such a low calorie intake you really should not break over. I suppose one candy bar a week would not be disastrous, but you could have a helping of lean meat, a baked potato and some greens for the same number of calories, and you need them.

So what I mean? Why not forget candy bars for the reducing period. If your sweet tooth is giving you trouble, why not take a couple of those little pieces of hard candy after dinner at night?

DOROTHY DIX SAYS

Man Suggests Federal Match Making Agency

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a man just past 50, I have never married because I could not support a wife in a way I considered a decent standard of living when I was young and since I have been able to marry I have not seen a woman whom I wanted to marry and whom I thought would fit into my scheme of life.

But surely somewhere in the world there is such a one. This has made me wonder why we might not have a national bureau handled on a high ethical plane, whose mission it would be to bring the right people together. Those interested could fill out a questionnaire that would be registered in a central bureau, stating their own qualifications and what they desired socially, educationally, biologically, temperamentally, a husband or wife.

What do you think of the idea? A. E.

ANSWER: It is a grand idea and perhaps after the Government gets through regimenting us about everything else on earth it will take up our love affairs and establish a WTM (what to marry) bureau and provide us all with scientifically selected husbands and wives.

Tobe on Fashion—

For Television Evenings

Since women have started dressing especially for television evenings at home, feminine pants of all sorts have surged back into popularity.

Smartest of all the many trouser fashions, I think, are the tapered slacks that I saw start as a beach fashion on the beautiful island of Capri when I was there a year ago last summer.

Now these slacks have moved indoors, and become glamorous in black velvet, or in jersey. They are all tapered down in the legs to give that wonderful long-streamed American beauty look that our women love.

Starting with black velvet tapered slacks, you can build any number of stunning evening costumes using handkerchiefs or the smart new pearl rhinestone-studded sweaters.

SIX HOT TIPS ON COLD WEATHER DRIVING

1. GET the "feel" of the road before you start out—you can do this by trying your brakes while driving slowly and away from traffic.
2. ADJUST your speed to road and weather conditions. Slow down on wet, snow and icy roads so you can stop when you have to.
3. USE tire chains on ice and snow. They cut down braking distances as much as 40 or 50 percent. Chains are not a cure-all for winter accidents, but they will help the careful driver.
4. KEEP your windshield and windows clear of snow and ice, fog and frost. Be sure your headlights, windshield wipers, and defrosters are in good working order. You have to see danger to avoid it!
5. WHEN you have to stop, pump your brakes up and down—jamming them on may lock them and throw your vehicle into a skid.
6. FOLLOW other vehicles at a safe distance—remember that it takes from three to twelve times as long to stop on snow and ice as it does on dry concrete.

Council to Hear Dant Traffic Plan

Town Planner Will Present Scheme for Warehouse Area

His long-promised plan for ironing out traffic and other problems in the central warehouse district will be presented to city council tonight by Town Planner Noel Dant.

Mr. Dant defines the "natural use area for warehouse/wholesale" purposes as that bounded by 101 and 109 streets, from the lane north of Jasper avenue to 104 avenue.

He recommends that present sub-standard housing still in the area be gradually eliminated; a new design be adopted for roadways on the avenues, and that firms without off-street loading facilities be given three years to provide them.

THROUGH LANES

Two central through-lanes, 120 feet overall, would be provided on each 80-foot avenue, with two five-foot pedestrian islands flanking them. On the outside of the islands would be two local roads, 24 feet wide. These would be again divided in two lanes by a white line 10 feet from the property line.

No double parking would be allowed on the local roads.

Mr. Dant proposes to have the city provide two lots in each block for off-street parking. City now owns 18 lots in the area, which he proposes would be exchanged for lots at near the middle of each block as possible, and it would have to buy another 18.

Four protests — including two seeking minimum $7,000 compensation — face city council tonight as it moves to implement district residents' request to close a portion of street flanking CPR right-of-way at the south approach to High Level bridge.

Months ago, residents of 89 avenue between 100 and 110 streets asked council to close that part of the unnamed street immediately west of CPR right-of-way, from 89 avenue to the lane between 89 and 88 avenues.

Notices were placed in Edmonton newspapers Sept. 27 and Oct. 4. Protests against the move have been entered by Alexander Steen, owner of property on the north-west corner of 109 street and 88 avenue; Corner Drug Store, which leases part of Mr. Steen's property; Robert Shortreed, owner of business premises immediately west of the drug store; and G. E. Gre, a signer of the original petition seeking closing of the street.

For the second time in less than six months, Power Plant Superintendent W. I. McFarland will tonight recommend that city council reject two lower initial bids in authorizing purchase of new plant equipment.

Several months ago, council accepted his recommendation that lower initial bids be rejected in purchasing a new $600,000, 30,000 kilowatt turbo-generating unit, because lower operating costs more than compensated for the higher initial cost.

Mr. McFarland will present a similar case for purchase of a gas-fired, 200,000-pound-per-hour boiler to complement the ordered generator.

He will recommend—and city commissioners will concur—that Babcock-Wilson and Goldstein-Cullock be given the order at a comparative installed price of $336,680.

New system of handling tax payments will be recommended to city council tonight by City Assessor and Tax Collector, J. A. MacDonald.

It would use discounted non-transferable prepayment certificates, and would "substantially reduce clerical work involved."

Mr. MacDonald recommends passage of a bylaw authorizing sale of tax payment certificates from Jan. 1 to 16, 1951, discounted at two per cent, redeemable at face value on payment of 1951 yearly taxes.

Other items on tonight's agenda include:

1. Petition against prohibiting parking on south side of Jasper between 97 and 99 streets, signed by 75 residents.

2. Lengthy report from Hugh D. Davidson, city safety officer, on his recent civil defence course at Camp Borden.

3. Resignation of Ald. F. Armour Ford from the hospital board, on grounds he cannot spare necessary time for its business.

4. Appointment of a board to deal with service stations wishing to remain open after hours for emergency service.

5. Annual report of Edmonton Boxing and Wrestling Commission.

6. Chamber of Commerce request that Friday, Dec. 22, be declared the night on which city stores remain open for Christmas shoppers.

Members of city council's two standing committees will be appointed at tonight's first regular meeting, on recommendation of the nominating committee headed by Ald. Khaldun Husein.

Finance committee will consist of Aldermen William Hawrelak, Dr. H. M. Clark, Fred J. Mitchell, F. Armour Ford and Harold E. Tanner.

Bylaws committee will consist of Aldermen E. I. Clarke, Duncan Innes, Ken Lawson, R. F. L. Hanna, and A. Bisset.

Members of finance committee also double as Utilities Committee.

Stettler Church To Be Blessed

STETTLE, Nov. 13.—The new Catholic Church at Stettler, will be solemnly blessed November 22, by Most Rev. J. H. MacDonald, D.D. of Edmonton.

A large number of diocesan clergy and residents of Stettler and district are expected to attend the ceremony. The edifice will also be opened for public inspection during the afternoon and evening. This new building is attracting unusual interest in its construction of concrete stone block with brick face and stone trim.

In addition to the Church which seats 350, the building provides a well-appointed residence for the clergy of the parish.

Dawson Creek Changes To Mtn. Standard Time

By H. Hughes
Bulletin Correspondent

DAWSON CREEK, B.C., Nov. 13.—Stepping into line with neighboring Alberta towns, this grain centre for the B.C. Peace River Block will go on Mountain Standard Time effective midnight, November 30.

The move was occasioned by the confusion arising from the direct business associations with Alberta merchants and the flow of traffic from Edmonton via trucking and the Northern Alberta Railway. Business ties and dealings are closer to Alberta than they are to the home province.

The move was initiated by Dawson Creek Senior Chamber of Commerce, Farmers' Union of Alberta (B.C. Section), Dawson Creek Junior Chamber of Commerce, Dawson Creek Retail Merchants' Association and surrounding district organizations.

Residents of nearby Alberta towns, as well as B.C. residents have been on the Alberta time for years and the resultant confusion to shoppers in this close-to-the-Alberta-border village has necessitated the change.

Heather Brae Grain Club Wins Prizes

HEATHER BRAE, Nov. 13.—The 17 junior club members of Heather Brae Grain Club completed the season's activities for their Thresher visual project with the achievement day held in Heather Brae hall Friday afternoon.

Sample of wheat weighing 654 pounds to the bushel won a first prize ribbon for Carl Staal. With only a few hours left for entry in the Dominion competition, club members worked to hand pick and prepare an 18-pound sample of the prize winning grain and sent it on its way to the Toronto Royal Winter Fair.

As efficiency winner, Harland Magnuson won the free trip to Old School of Agriculture for club week next summer. He also was winner of the judging competition, which carries a $10 cash prize paid by the department of agriculture.

Les Lober, assistant supervisor of junior club activities, was in charge of the judging of the grain. Miss Popoff, home economist, assisted with the records, and W. A. Holsey, district agriculturalist, conducted the judging competition.

Harland Magnuson, as president and Arlyn Hilday, secretary, conducted a short meeting when several speakers were introduced.

Mr. Usher presented tribute to members showing the six best samples of grain. First prize went to Carl Staal, second to Henry Staal, third to Walter Lutz, fourth to Dennis Wallace, fifth to Grant Hartman and six to Gary Hartman.

Mr. Peabody
and the end of the rainbow

• You could have knocked Mr. Peabody over with a feather.

For there, right through the window of his own room, came a rainbow. And at the end of it was a huge pot of gold!

As he approached it to see if it was real, he heard the sound of bells. "The whole town has heard of this!" thought Mr. Peabody. "That's why the bells are ringing." And the sound of the bells grew louder... louder... LOUDER...

Mr. Peabody awoke with a start. The alarm clock beside his bed was ringing... ringing... RINGING. Shutting it off, he sighed sadly, got up and dressed.

At the breakfast table Mr. Peabody read his newspaper. In it a speaker was reported to have said that old-age benefits should provide everybody with enough to retire on.

Just look at the value you get in SAFEWAY STEAKS

Steak value should be measured two ways: First, by quality of the meat; second, by the proportion of good eating meat on the cut. On both counts you'll find Safeway steaks unsurpassed. Our steaks are cut from top grades of beef only—meat which is sure to cook up tender and juicy. Then we trim away parts that don't rightly belong on a good steak—excess bone and fat, sections of tough meat. (See diagram at right.) The result is a steak which offers a maximum of good eating for your money. We guarantee it.
